MEDICINAL.

The man who is caged in or cooped up day after day without sufficient exercise is sure to suffer from it. Quite often the liver is the first organ which becomes disordered, and constipation, biliousness, sick headache and general physical torpor make life miserable. There is only one way to deal with liver "trouble" and that is to go to the root of the disease, and cure it once for all. Such cures of the disordered or diseased liver almost always follow the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It always helps. It almost always cures. It regulates the liver, strengthens the stomach, and purifies the blood.

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine made," writes Michael Moler, of Littlefield, N. Y. (68 Center St.). "I had yellow jaundice and liver trouble in November, 1900. Was almost dead, lost sixteen pounds in three weeks and my whole body was as yellow as gold, and I was sick at my stomach all the time. I tried three doctors and they gave me tablets and pills and another one every other stuff, but I went to Messrs. O'Rourke and Hurley's drug store and got your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' One bottle cured me and I thank it and God that I am a well man."

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good." The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1000 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FIGHT WITH CONVICTS.

The shooting of convicts who were attempting to escape from the Kentucky penitentiary was stated in yesterday's Gazette. As the result of an attempt convict Wallace Bishop, of Covington, is dead, and D. Mulligan is wounded in the leg from a bullet which passed through the body of Bishop, and Albert Ransom, colored, of Louisville, was wounded in the arm. Lafayette Brooks, the fourth of the conspirators, is shot through the left shoulder, and is penitent for being led into the desperate plot by Bishop. The convicts are all life men and have been carrying balls and chain for some time.

The outbreak was begun at 6 o'clock yesterday morning as the men were being sent to the workshops from the dining room, and for four hours and a half the three prisoners held the entire force of guards at bay from a room in the broom closet, where they exchanged shots as they lay on their backs with Guard Willis, held a prisoner in front of them, and sent messages to the warden, first defying him, and at last giving in, after a desperate siege, when they were surrounded on all sides.

The outbreak was similar in many respects to Tracy's outbreak; and evidently the plot was formed from reading of Tracy's desperate deed. Bishop, Mulligan, Brooks, and Albert Ransom, colored, walked across to the "red room," where they took off the balls and chains which had been placed on their limbs as a punishment for bad behavior.

In the "red room" they encountered Guard T. F. Hurst, whom they held up and relieved of his pistol. Guard Gill heard the scuffle and came to Hurst's rescue, but no sooner arrived than he was covered by a pistol in the hands of Lafayette Brooks. Gill was likewise held up and compelled to hand over his revolver.

Guard Potts then went to their assistance. Bishop opened fire on Potts-grove and the latter returned it. Several shots were exchanged, and in the firing Brooks was shot in the shoulder, but not seriously injured.

Guards Luckett and Frye and acting Deputy Warden Madigan by this time had heard the shots and ran to investigate. The firing, upon their arrival, became general, and the desperadoes retreated to the inside of the room. Foreman Charles Willis was in the room, and, following out the Tracy plan, they impressed him, holding him as a hostage, and compelling him to walk between them and the guards.

This cut off all chance of the guardshooting further at this stage of the fight.
The men closed the door of the room and Willis was kept with them, not being allowed to move except upon order of Bishop, who was the director of the party.

They immediately dispatched a note to Warden Lillard, telling him that if another shot was fired or other attempt made to dislodge them they would kill Foreman Willis. The negotiations between the warden and other officers and the mutineers were carried on through a cellhouse "trusty."

A 9 o'clock Epp Lillard, jr., hit Ransom, shooting him through the arm disabling him. Ransom came down and surrendered. Several attempts were made to get Warden Lillard and Guard Madigan to come in front of the steps to the building where the prisoners were barricaded, in order, they said, that the prisoners could surrender to them. This the officials declined to do, as they believed the convicts wanted to kill them.

About 10:15 Warden Lillard received a note saying they would surrender and come down with "hands up" if the warden would protect them. This offer was accepted. As the party came out, Bishop partially dropped his hands, but had not got them as far as his pocket when a shot rang out and he fell heavily to the floor. He had been shot full in the breast, the bullet from a Winchester having passed entirely through his body.
Bishop cursed the warden, physician, and chaplain as he lay on his dying bed, defiant to the last. The other prisoners say Bishop formed the plot and led them on.

EXPLOSION OF BOILERS.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon two wrought iron digesters, or boilers, used by the pulp works of the Jessup & Moore Paper Company, in Wilmington, Del., exploded. About one-half of the huge building was totally destroyed and ten lives were lost, three men were badly injured and six are supposed to be under the ruins, which were piled up for thirty feet in a space one hundred by seventy-five feet. The exploding boilers used to cook the wood into a pulp were upright and stood about twenty feet high, being six feet in diameter. One of the pieces, about twelve feet long, was thrown 200 feet in the air and came down on the ground, making a hole five feet deep.
The other boiler was thrown into the air and landed in the river 100 feet distant.

The cause of the explosion is not known definitely, but it is attributed to excess of steam and weak places in the boilers.
The men who were caught in the wreckage were scalded by steam and burned by acid in the boilers. The monetary loss to the company is about $20,000 and the plant will have to suspend work.
The ruins took fire and the flames had to be extinguished by the fire department.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child or our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days the child had fully recovered and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by Richard Gibson, Druggist.

His Sight Threatened.

"While picnicking last month my 11-year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sioux City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison off his hands into his eyes and for a while we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days he was as well as ever." For skin diseases, cuts, burns, scalds, wounds, insect bites, DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is sure cure. Believes piles at once. Beware of Counterfeits. For sale by E. S. Leadbetter & Sons.
